78 Parkes Road, Collaroy Plateau, NSW 2097. Phone 9971 7899

You can have a voice and three moorings for $30/year*

Salt Pan & Refuge Coves Co-Op Limited asks you to help us retain our strength in looking after boat owners' interest in our area. Due to the natural thinning in our lines (members retire from boating or move to other areas) we need to bolster our membership.

By joining our group your wishes for a boating life as free as possible of unwanted intrusions from authorities and other interest groups are strengthened. You get the use of the Co-Op's three moorings, in Morning Bay, Coaster's Retreat and Refuge Bay, and the satisfaction that your voice is better heard when boating matters are dealt with at institutions like the NSW Maritime Authority, Pittwater Council, National Parks and Wildlife, etc.

The Co-op is a Member of the NSW Maritime Pittwater User Group and has been involved in its work with boat toilet pump-outs, no-wash zones, etc. The recent upgrading of the Saltpan Jetty is among the issues where our voice has been influential.

Please play your part – join the Co-Op.

When Marine Neighbourhood Watch was formed in the late 1980s the Co-op gave its full support and our voluntary roster system turned Salt Pan and Refuge Coves from one of the worst areas of marine theft to the safest in the first year of Marine Watch operation.

The Co-op is a non-profit community activity, owned by its members. As a member you help to protect our common boating interest from interference from political pressure groups, commercial interests and undue increases in boating costs. We invite all boat owners in our two bays to join us

- You get the use of moorings in Morning and Refuge Bays and Coasters Retreat
- You get a say in how your home bay anchorage is to be managed
- You get a chance to check authorities' undue incursions on your boating rights
- You get discount on a number of marine products and services
- You have the option to actively support the Marine Watch program
- You are welcome to friendly, informative, bi-monthly meetings at the Royal Motor Yacht Club with popular guest speakers

* Plus $20 entry fee
